Valley Girl, 16, Charges Rape

A 16-year old runaway girl from Boys and Girls' Aid, a County facility in Spring Valley, was raped by two men Friday night she told sheriff's deputies.

She left the facility about 8 p.m. Thursday and hitch-hiked toward San Diego. At 1 a.m. she was picked up at the state 94 and Avocado ramp by three men. They stopped for beer and the girl drank two cans, she said. She told officers the trio drove her around for two hours after which one male held her arms, the other her legs, while the third one raped her. The raper then held her arms and another her legs and the second one committed the same crime. The third one held her but did not rape her she told officers.

The three were described as Danny, a Mexican, 17-18 with a mustache and thin beard, Maurice, about 16-17, clean shaven and Larry, 20-21, with a full beard and mustache.

Officers are following clues but issued a warning regarding girls hitch-hiking.

Follow That Trail...

Don't underestimate the police abilities of sheriff's deputies.

Judith Roberta Grijalva, who lives at 1010 La Presa ave., Spring Valley, called the police April 6 at 8:30 p.m. and reported stereo components and a black and white teevee — all worth $390 — had been taken from her home while she took her children to Disneyland.

The sheriff's department sent a brace of sleuths to the Spring Valley address. After carefully taking notes, establishing points of entry, seeking clues and dusting for fingerprints, an officer found a 10½" footprint in the back yard. He followed the tracks until they disappeared in a nearby field. Undaunted, like a hunting dog on a trail, he pointed in a line where the footprints disappeared and there it was — all the stolen property.

The Grijalva children helped bring back their belongings and the sheriff's department racked up another case marked "solved."

Old Time Days

Biggest Parade Saturday, 11 a.m.

Saturday, April 26th, 11 a.m.

It's parade time! For the 12th year in a row Lemon Grove's Old Time Days Parade will march east on Broadway—with a difference.

This year there will be 140 units. Last year there were 69. It's twice as big as before! It is estimated that it will take an hour and a half to pass a given spot.

Broadway is expected to be populated by as many as 30,000 men, women and children—mostly youngsters, it is hoped. The parade's for them.

The parade will move along Broadway east from Vista ave. to Kempf st., south on Kempf to the playgrounds of the L.G. Junior High school. There will be no activity for youngsters Jackie Lynn Taylor, the famed and beauty queens of National City, Coronado, Lakeside and Pacific Beach.

There will also be Miss Lemon Grove, Carol Klee; Miss Spring Valley, Elaine Schmidt

The "Over the Hill" Gang will be on hand, too.

In addition to the parade there will be other attractions. Immediately following the Grand March Miss Taylor will sing, dance and lead an audience participation show on a stage in the roped-off section of Main st. opposite the Big Lemon.

Contests
Appearing with Miss Taylor will be the L.G. Jr. High Pep Band; the Calico Twirlers square dancers; Francine Pipes' dancers; Mt. Miguel High school Girls Ensemble;

Costumed youngsters in the parade will appear on the stage to be judged for prizes.

A lemon pie eating contest will provide cash prizes to the winners and sports notables who will have ridden in the parade will make an appearance, according to Coupee.

There will be more horses than usual in this year's parade. An early check listed 31 Old favorites, the Lemonettes business and professional men dressed as dancers, will dispense lemon drops to the kiddies again this year.

Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin and Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh will attend the function.

Many businessfolk of the town will be dressed for the occasion. They will be competing for prizes which range from dinners to Padres baseball game tickets.

Incorporation Study Needs You

Local residents are urged to attend the meeting tonight concerning annexation or incorporation.

The meeting is at Golden Avenue School auditorium starting at 7:30 p.m.

Presiding at the meeting will be Supervisor Dick Brown together with Charlotte Langley, County Management Assistant who developed the material as the basis on findings to be announced tonight.

A preview of a 40-page study indicates residents of Lemon Grove City could reduce their tax burden by 43 cents without reducing the level of services now being provided.

Supervisor Brown has long advocated a localized form of government for areas such as Lemon Grove. He insists that staying as part of the unincorporated county will grow more expensive.

At a public meeting in September in Lemon Grove, citizens in attendance overwhelmingly asked the county to provide a study that might provide a sense of direction. That study is being unveiled to the public tonight.

It will show the City of Lemon Grove with about 27,000 people within a five square-mile area. The area now has a tax rate of $10.01 to $12.38 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

Annexation costs are not a part of the study although it does show Lemon Grove City with a 40 cents tax rate. La Mesa has 90 cents and San Diego City $1.75. The 40 cents rate must be added to a county tax rate which will be reduced by the level of service transferred from the County.

Brown has said that remaining unincorporated will ultimately be the most costly for Lemon Grove citizens. Annexation, he has said, is the second most costly.

Although he and his staff will present the findings without bias, it is almost a certainty that the figures will give the audience the feeling that they are attending an incorporation meeting.

Records show that incorporation attempts failed on three occasions. The number voting against incorporation grew with each election.

1959	2783-2301
1964	3167-2037

The county's study is much cheaper than each of the ones developed by proponents of incorporation in the years above. Each time proponents raised about $5,000 among themselves for the study.

You are urged to attend tonight's meeting. A change in the make-up of the community may be decided on. Your voice should be in that decision.

Brown Sees Lemon Grove In Sup. District Switch

Just a week before his scheduled meeting in Lemon Grove to discuss incorporation, a bearing on the decision is Supervisor Dick Brown, at a public meeting in El Cajon, said that it was highly probable that Lemon Grove, together with Bonita, would be shifted into Jack Walsh's First District.

It is part of a mandatory program to equalize the five supervisorial districts of the county.

If Brown loses 27,000 persons who live in Lemon Grove, other changes would have to be made to compensate him for 8,000 of them to better equalize the change.

Brown said there is a conflict in equalization philosophy. Equalization is required by law. In the law is criteria which does not approve of dividing areas which have a community of interest.

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley have such an interest, he said and it would be wrong for Lemon Grove to be in a district separate from Spring Valley.

"That's an issue that will have to be decided," he said.

Youthful Suspect Charged With Four Burglaries

An odd loss and a quick recovery occurred April 15 in Lemon Grove.

Kenneth M. Heffernan, of 8283 Alton dr., a PBX installer, reported to the sheriff's office about noon that his house had been burglarized. Several bottles of liquor, a tape recorder, jewelry including a Timex electric watch and an ID bracelet and a bottle of wine were missing.

When deputies investigated, they found some of the items on a table in the owner's rear yard. During the investigation the officer noted a white Mustang stuck in the mud of a nearby field. It had the key in the ignition. The officer took the key and continued the investigation.

Soon, Scott William Ice, 18, an employee of Von's Market in Spring Valley and who lives at 1815 Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley soon appeared where the car was stuck. He said he was trying to take a short cut to Mt. Miguel High school when his car became mired in a drainage ditch. Additional investigation uncovered a Timex electric watch and a gold ID bracelet with Heffernan's name on it.

In Car's Trunk
Additionally, in the trunk of the car were boxes of jewelry, radios, record albums, a jelly jar of pennies and various other items.

The officer checked a list of recent burglaries and items he reported to have been either in Ice's car or in his home on Sweetwater rd. were missing items from three other area homes.

From the home of Lloyd Goodman, Lamar st., Spring Valley, were items including a jelly jar of pennies. From the home of George Wood, Calavo dr., Spring Valley were jewelry and coins, record albums, a radio and head phones and from the home of Warren Wendt, Alzada dr., La Mesa, were jewelry, an alarm clock, and other items.

The items were released to the victims and Ice is being arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court on a felony charge.

Tires, Stereo, Flag Are Burglars' Loot

David Arthur Lantan, 21, left his auto at the home of his father at 3860 Helix st., in Spring Valley. While he was on a trip, someone took two polygas rear tires and four mag wheels which accounted for a loss of $200, the father reported.

Stereo Stolen
Marcus Cameron Wheeler, a welder who lives at 809 Pecos st. in Spring Valley, drove his friend home on March 16. When he returned stereo equipment worth $200 was taken from his home.

Flag Missing
While attendants were in the station's office, a thief hauled down a 10x15 foot American flag from a 75-foot pole at Marinakis' Gulf station at 6901 Federal blvd. The theft occurred about 4:30 p.m. April 16.

Burglars Leave Trail
The culprits left a trail and Sheriff's deputy Swain followed it. Ronald J. Landrum, a truck driver, of 1051 Gillespie dr., Spring Valley, reported a burglary about 5 p.m. April 16.

Missing, said Landrum, were three cans of beer; three BB rifles; a stack of girlie magazines and a girl's bathing suit. The officer followed a path made in the wet grass to a shed on a nearby property. There he flushed several minors including twin brothers, 16 years of age.

He also found 12 empty beer cans in the hideout; a 4.5 gram baggie of marijuana beneath the shed's window. The twin was boys' parents gave the officer the BB guns.

The boys admitted the burglary. One watched while the other committed the crime, they told officers. They will be tried by juvenile authorities.

Tools Taken
Dennis Schmid of La Mesa, left his car in the rear parking lot while he was having breakfast at the Country Kitchen at 8125 Broadway, Lemon Grove.

During the repast, someone took his tools, tool box, tires and rims from his truck leaving him with a loss of appetite and $850 in valuables.

Public Meeting Tonight
Supervisor Dick Brown and his staff will present facts and figures regarding incorporation annexation, status quo of Lemon Grove tonight at 7:30 at Golden Avenue school auditorium at Golden and School lane.

Answers to questions regarding the community's future will be answered.

Information will be based on a six-month study conducted by county staff.

The meeting is public.

House Damaged; Tenant Missing

Realtor Lee Colburn Curtis, of Spring Valley said the tenant's rent was overdue. It was the rental at 816 Galapago, Spring Valley, that he was concerned with.

The tenant who moved in the house in November was nowhere to be found. Inside Curtis learned that his tenant not only had flown the coop, but he had wreaked considerable damage on the premises. Moreover, someone had made off with six pairs of curtains and the rods.

Additionally, two broken windows; one wrecked wall heater; broken closet doors and a demolished front door greeted the agent.

The loss is listed at $700. Sheriff's deputies were asked to look for Phillip Ross, 23, the missing tenant.

Three Charged With Assault Following Swap Meet Dispute

Swap meets are fun under normal conditions.

But for Steven Nelson Broyles, 22, a heavy equipment operator of 3486 Trophy dr., Lemon Grove, it was a daytime nightmare.

He and his friend, Nancy Carol Brown, 22, were leaving the Spring Valley Swap Meet Sunday afternoon when a group in a white Pontiac pulled alongside and yelled something at the couple.

At the intersection of Faxon and Lakeview was the same car, according to sheriff's reports, and Harvey Filskov, of Santee challenged Broyles to stop and fight. Broyles accommodated him. Soon, reportedly,

Edward Lander, 20, of Lakeside, joined the fray by allegedly hitting Broyles in the face with a motorcycle chain where she reported the brutal-knocking him to the ground. It was the sheriff's office in Another male, a 17-year old Lemon Grove by phone. Min-one, got out of the car and utes later officers arrived at joined the other two in kicking Broyles in the head. 20-with multiple cuts and bruises year old Marie Filskov was about the head, neck, cheek the fourth passenger in the and jaw. His teeth were damaged, also. He rejected a trip to the hospital. Officers found the white Pontiac still blocking enough to help Broyles into the car, getting the suspect's license number in the process. When she started to leave the scene to find police help, the white Pontiac had been driven into the middle of the road, blocking her way.

Goes for Help
Nancy Brown interceded long the white Pontiac still blocking enough to help Broyles into the car, getting the suspect's license number in the process. When she started to leave the scene to find police help, the white Pontiac had been driven into the middle of the road, blocking her way.

Assault charges were lodged against the two men and the 17-year old youth. They will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

OLD-TIME COOKING is demonstrated by Yolanda Vargas, candidate for Miss Lemon Grove, at the home of Allen and Sharon Stevenson, 2641 Massachusetts. The Stevensons purchased the home last year and are decorating it with turn-of-the-century furnishings. The home, built in 1896, first belonged to August Fels who owned a lemon ranch on a large stretch of what is now residential property in Lemon Grove.

LM-SV Teachers Get 5.7% Raise

All employees of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District will have salary increases as of May 1, as a result of Board action taken at an April 15 meeting. Implementation of the new increases is contingent upon the outcome of the current hearings concerning the nonreemployment of 30 teachers for the 1975-76 school year due to declining student enrollment.

The Board action amounts to the adoption of a 5.7% increase in teacher salaries effective May 1.

The increase ups the average annual salary of teachers by $1,394.

Class Will Teach City Hall Fighting

There is a way to fight city

In order to help people learn how to do it, CALPRIG Director Dan Franklin is coordinating an intensive one-day course through the U.C. Extension on Saturday.

Entitled "Prices! Quality! Safety! Consumers Take a Stand," the course will explore the several avenues available to consumers to achieve redress of their grievances.

The information will be useful to anyone who has attempted—or has been afraid to attempt—to tackle the bureaucratic maze in order to solve a personal problem, promote better laws, get a governmental body to do its job, find a competent attorney, or any of a number of related hassles.

Five speakers will discuss their specialties and answer questions from the audience. They are: Assemblyman Larry Kapiloff, Deputy State Attorney General Albert N. Sheldon, Fight Inflation Together founder Ruth Yannatta, attorney Janet I. Kintner, and consumer counselor Natalie Schmidt.

The course will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., with an hour for lunch. Registration for the course, which costs $6, may be arranged at the UCSD Extension office, at 452-3400, or from the CALPRIG office, 236-1508.

Garage Entered Via Automatic Opener

A Spring Valley thief added

He broke the wind wing of the vehicle belonging to Mike Jackson of 3043 Highlands Blvd. to steal his 8-track stereo tape player. He used the electronic garage door opener to open the automatically operated garage door. Inside, he took a floor jack valued at $100 and a box of tools worth $100.

Jackson, a postal clerk with the Spring Valley Post Office, told sheriff's deputies that the thief did the job about 3:30 p.m. Friday morning.

From Jackson's vehicle the thief took an 8-track stereo tape deck with a $395 value and 35 tapes worth $175.

Utilizing the automatic door opener, the thief took a box of tools worth $150 and a floor jack worth $100 from the garage.

A neighbor gave a description of a vehicle that was seen in front of Jackson's home at about the time the burglary occurred.

Fewer Physicians Willing to Treat Medi-Cal Patients

The number of physicians willing to provide health services to the needy under California's Medi-Cal program is slowly shrinking, a survey by the California Medical Association revealed.

Over the next three years, more than a fourth of physicians responding to the survey said they expected to be treating fewer Medi-Cal patients.

18.4 percent of physicians responding expect to treat more Medi-Cal patients, while a little more than half anticipate no change in the caseload.

Currently, CMA says that almost a tenth of the average physician's patients are on Medi-Cal. The Medi-Cal caseload varies considerably among physicians. Some treat no Medi-Cal patients at all.

Preliminary findings indicate that physicians who won't treat Medi-Cal patients say that government-imposed restrictions on medical care permitted under Medi-Cal, standard fees and bureaucratic red tape have caused them to limit their Medi-Cal services.

S.D. Councilman Discovers Wide Smog Sticker Price Range

San Diego City Councilman Leon Williams has urged consumers to "shop before they buy" an anti-smog exemption certificate after a survey by his office revealed that prices for the certificate in San Diego range from $3.50 to $45.

Under the state's smog control device program all cars manufactured between 1966 and 1970 must have devices installed. There is a $35 maximum charge allowed under the law.

But some 50 makes and models of cars are exempt and qualify for an official anti-smog exemption certificate. The law, however, does not place a ceiling on the sticker's price.

Williams said, "A phone survey by my office of garages and car dealers revealed that prices vary as do the extra requirements some dealers put on the consumer, such as exhaust tests or just a 'look at the engine.'"

Robert Alexander, chief of the state's Bureau of Automotive Repair, told Williams' office no such tests are necessary for the sticker.

He told Williams that dealers would have to take a look at the engine to determine if it is of the kind which is exempt but that "no tests should be required."

Alexander said, "It should cost no more than $8 in a maximum extreme situation."

A list of vehicles which are exempt from the smog device program has been developed by Alexander's office and will be available from Williams' office at 202 C St., San Diego 92101.

Williams said most dealers refused to indicate how much of the price was for the sticker and how much was for their "tests." Consumers should be informed when they shop for the stickers, he said, or they will surely wind up paying more than they could elsewhere for the certificate.

The telephone survey revealed that a Mission Valley Department store had quoted the lowest sticker cost at $3.50, while another department store in the North Park area of San Diego quoted $8.99 to $45 maximum, depending on any servicing which the car may need.

Williams said that a similar study in Los Angeles indicated a price range from $2.50 to $10.50.

Armed Robbery Nets Only $12

A white male, 22-26, 160, 5-10, pointed a pump-type shotgun at David Monard Ice, a 21-year old college student, as he emerged from his car about 10 p.m. April 17.

The robber demanded his wallet and tried to force Ice under the hood of his own car. Ice resisted and yelled but nobody responded although the robbery was taking place in the parking area of the apartment complex where he lived.

Then at gun point the robber tied Ice's hands behind his back, taped his mouth and left Ice on the ground. He made his way to his apartment and called the sheriff's office.

His loss was $12 in cash; various ID and credit cards and his keys.

Vans Targets For Burglars

From the van of Diana Maxie Lewis, 3903 Conrad st., Casa de Oro on Sunday, April 13 thieves lifted a tape deck and a supply of tapes.

They got into the car through the wind window. She values her loss at $266.

The previous Friday, from the unlocked van of Isaac Paveia, 8777 Bigford ave., Spring Valley and from the unlocked van of Gary William Day, same address, burglars took an Exakta camera, a stereo deck, tapes and a pillow. The total loss was $597, the pair said. It was not ascertained what was taken from whose van.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor: Again, it's rather sad to read in your newspaper that the local merchants along Broadway, who probably like most of us clamor to keep Government out of private enterprise in the main, are now asking a branch of that Government to foot the bill for repairs to their privately owned parking lots. They excuse this asking by citing absentee ownership of their firms or properties.

They might find, by reading their leases that it's the tenant's responsibility to maintain the premises in good repair and pay for same.

If all the Broadway merchants along the rutted area paid for their fair share of the repairs, the cost would be nominal.

It was the third break-in at the store this year.

Cycle Accidents Climb in San Diego

"Motorcycle accidents contributed significantly to traffic fatalities in the City of San Diego in 1974," George Simpson, Director of the City's Department of Transportation, said this week.

"Sixteen traffic deaths in 1974 involved motorcyclists," he said, "up from 10 in 1973. A total of 952 motorcycle-related accidents occurred in 1974, in which 830 persons were injured," he added, "which is also up from 1973."

Most motorcycle accidents involve collisions with other vehicles, and occur in intersections. It happens when drivers of other vehicles, especially those turning at intersections, do not see the motorcyclists in time to stop.

A recommendation has been made for the use of high visibility clothing, bright colored helmets and motorcycle headlamps during daylight and evening hours to assure that motorcyclists can be seen by other motorists.

The high number of motorcycle deaths and collisions in 1974 may reflect the growing use of the motorcycle as an economic mode of personal transportation.

Announcing a Community Dialogue on Electric Power.

You can discuss the basic issues:

1. How much electricity do you want or need?
2. Where will your electricity come from?
3. How will your electricity be financed?
4. What are you willing to pay?
5. What are you willing to sacrifice?

In August, 1971, SDG&E asked for its first electric rate increase in 13 years. We warned at that time...and have warned frequently since...that rates would continue to go up as they reflect the sharply rising costs of producing electricity.

Unfortunately, our predictions were correct. Rates have gone up 13 times since then. And, again, we must warn that they will continue to do so.

On April 16th, we were forced to ask for another major rate increase. While some of that increase involves natural gas, the greatest portion of it concerns electricity. So we would like to discuss with you the fundamental problems involved in the electric power situation. Not just our problems, but yours as well. Not just individual gripes, but the critical issues which face all of us.

We would like to discuss these questions with you publicly, personally, in your own neighborhood. So in the next few weeks we will be holding dialogues with the community all over our service territory. The specific dates, times and locations will be announced in your community.

We urge you to attend. To question, to learn and to help make some of the vital decisions about energy which will affect your lifestyle in the years ahead.

In the meantime, we have purchased these pages to give you a preliminary briefing on the five fundamental issues that will be examined in the community meetings.

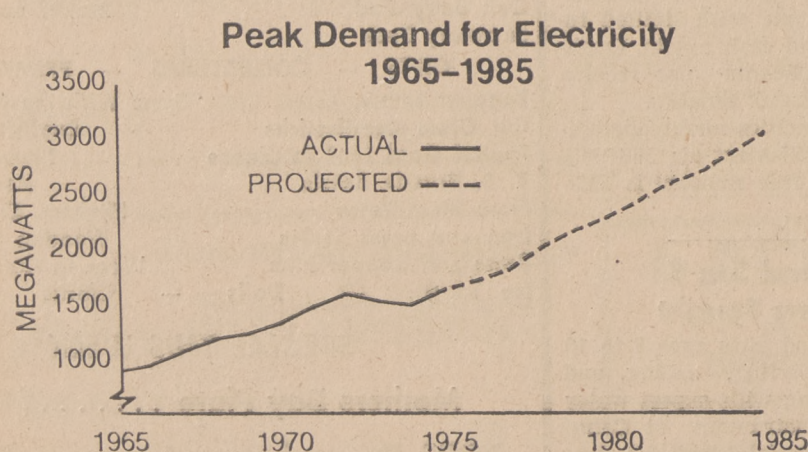

1. How much electricity do you want or need?

Electricity has become almost as necessary to our lives as the air we breathe and the food we eat. America uses more of it than any country in the world. San Diego is using more and more as the community grows.

It is our legal responsibility to provide the electric service our customers demand. So we have to plan for it. And because some power plants take ten years to build, we have to be looking that far ahead...and making decisions about what to do.

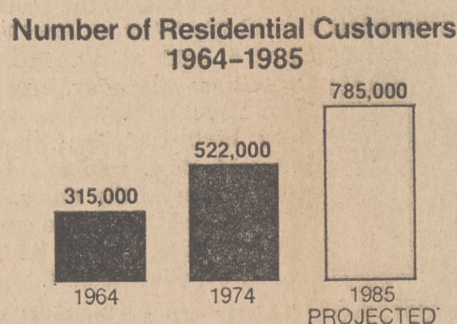

Let's take a look, therefore, at how the demand for electricity has grown in the last ten years...and where it appears to be headed in the next decade.

The best indicator of that growth is "peak demand." That's the greatest amount of electricity required at any one time during the year and is the major determinant of the number of power plants we must build, operate and maintain. Now and in the future.

As the graph illustrates, in spite of strong conservation efforts last year, your peak demand has increased 80% since 1965. And the things that govern that demand indicate that it will keep right on going up.

What has caused the growth? You have. Your office or business has. The schools your children attend have. Hospitals, stores and factories have. Farmers and growers have. We all have. The charts tell the story.

The average number of residential customers served by SDG&E grew 66% in the last ten years and conservative population forecasts indicate additional growth of 50% by 1985.

The average household use of electricity increased 48% in the last decade. It is projected to climb another 41% by 1985, even if you continue the conservation achieved last year. As natural gas supplies dwindle and San Diego's development moves further inland, more and more heating and cooling must be electric.

Business and industry, too, finds more and more ways to use electricity. To be more productive. To make working conditions more pleasant. The result: Electric use has more than doubled in the last ten years. All the evidence we must use for planning indicates that commercial use will continue to go up.

It is clear, then, that unless there are drastic changes in the growth rate of our community...or we greatly accelerate our conservation...we must double the size of our electric generation capacity in the next ten years. We have no choice.

This brings us to the second basic issue...

2. Where will your electricity come from?

Electricity is easy to take for granted. When you flick a switch, your lights come on. When you turn a dial, your oven heats up, conveyor belts roll, computers work, your clothes are washed.

It's easy to forget that millions of dollars, and years of technology, go into that current of life that serves you so well.

Most of the electricity you use today is generated in power plants that use fuel oil and natural gas. A small portion comes from our nuclear power plant at San Onofre. And some is provided by hydroelectric power we are able to buy in the Pacific Northwest.

As you know, there are serious problems with two of today's power sources. Natural gas will soon be too scarce for burning in power plants. And fuel oil is not only extremely expensive, but much of it must come from unreliable foreign sources.

Obviously, planning your power for tomorrow requires us to consider other sources. But where?

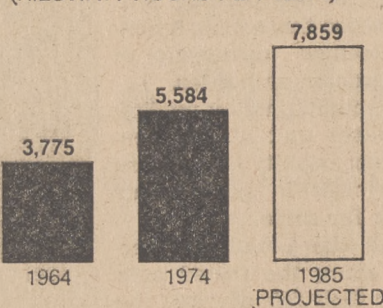

SOLAR?

We're actively involved in solar home heating projects and certainly recognize its potential for power generation in this land of sunshine. Someday. Right now, it's extremely costly and impractical. We can't count on it to make a major contribution until 1985 or after.

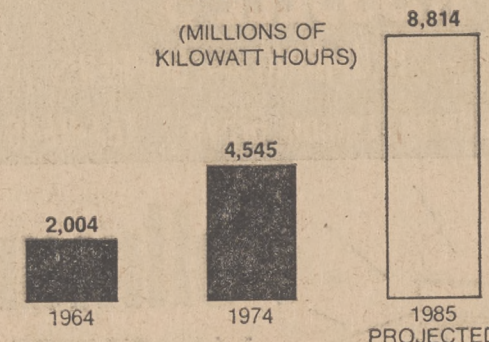

GEOTHERMAL?

We're participating in geothermal exploration in the Imperial Valley. This year we're building a test facility.

Average Electricity Use Residential Customers 1964-1985 (KILOWATT HOURS PER YEAR)

Electricity Use By Commercial & Industrial Customers 1964-1985 (MILLIONS OF KILOWATT HOURS)

But early indications are that this source will not be a major contributor to your power in the next decade.

TIDAL POWER, WINDMILLS, FUSION?

Any number of exotic solutions have been offered to solve our energy problems. Many of them may provide electrical generation someday in certain parts of the world. But right now they are out of the question for us.

This brings us back to just two practical options: Coal and nuclear. Both are abundant. We have the required technology. And we can get plants in operation in time to supply your electricity when you need it. If we act now!

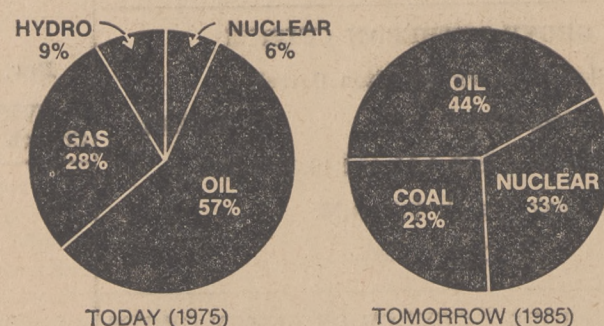

Accordingly, these are the specific plans we have laid to supply your projected electric needs in the next ten years.

Power Plants for Tomorrow

PLANT	TYPE FUEL	CAPACITY (MEGAWATTS)	DATE DUE	COST
ENCINA 5	OIL	292 MW	1977	$ 86,000,000
SAN ONOFRE 2 & 3	NUCLEAR	456 MW	1981-82	$ 415,000,000
KAIPAROWITS	COAL	702 MW	1981-83	$ 700,000,000
SUNDESERT	NUCLEAR	1,100 MW	1985	$ 664,000,000
TOTALS		2,550 MW		$1,865,000,000

All this means that the source of your electric power will change dramatically in the next ten years. Whereas 85% of your electricity today is generated by oil and natural gas, ten years from now the majority will be produced by coal and nuclear. Here in San Diego, we will have largely achieved our own "Operation Independence."

Where Your Electricity Will Come From

Independence is possible. But it won't come easily. Or cheaply.

Look again at the power plant construction schedule above. You'll see that the new plant will cost in the neighborhood of $2-billion. And we calculate that we will have to raise over $1-billion of this total in the next five years.

Where will it come from?

3. How will your electric needs be financed?

Chances are, when you need to buy a car or a new house, you arrange a loan somewhere. Because you simply don't have thousands of dollars in cash on hand.

To get a loan, you must have a good credit rating. You must show that you'll be able to repay the money. And you must put up some collateral to cover the loan.

You pay off your loan over a period of years, paying interest all the time on your borrowed money.

Our financing is basically the same. We must raise almost all the money for new plants from outside sources.

While you're limited to borrowing from a bank or other lender, there are several ways we can raise money. But they're all a form of "borrowing." They all require good credit and earning potential, and they must be paid back.

It is important, therefore, for you to know something about these sources. Because, one way or another, they will be reflected in your electric bill in the years ahead.

Here are the ways we can raise the money we need to produce the electricity you need.

BONDS

In December, 1974, we issued $50 million worth of bonds. But we must pay interest on those bonds. We must pay them back in just five years. We must use our plant as collateral. And, to issue future bonds and attract buyers, we must show adequate earnings.

PREFERRED STOCK

In April, 1974, we sold $25 million worth of preferred stock. But people buy preferred stock as a source of income in the form of dividends. We must be able to pay dividends on this stock, or we will have no buyers for future issues.

COMMON STOCK

In November, 1974, we sold $21.6-million worth of common stock, probably the most familiar form of corporate financing. These are the investors who carry the greatest risks. For they receive no collateral in return for their money. So the price we get for our stock depends on our earnings and growth potential. The smaller our earnings, the less each share will sell for. The less it sells for, the more we must sell, diluting the value of our stock. As the value declines, it becomes less and less attractive to investors.

SHORT-TERM LOANS

Like you, we can and do arrange bank loans, but also like you, we must have good credit and we must pay interest on our loans. If our earnings are down, our credit will suffer and we will have to pay more for essential loans.

COMMERCIAL PAPER

Basically, these are short-term business-to-business loans which are usually less costly than bank loans and which are used only during construction. Again, if our earnings are down, other businesses will be as reluctant as individual investors to provide the money we must raise.

There are other new and creative ways to raise money, which we are taking advantage of now. These include banker's acceptances which allow us to finance fuel oil at the time of purchase and pay for it as it is used. Another technique is leasing... you may have read that we have sold our building for $20 million and will lease it back from the buyer.

As you can see, even in a simplified form, corporate finance is incredibly complex. But it boils down to some stark, undeniable realities:

- We must raise a tremendous amount of money to expand our plant and keep meeting your needs.
- Almost all of this money must come from outside investors or lenders.
- We will not be able to obtain the money unless these investors and lenders are sure we can pay them for the use of their money.

The painful reality is, therefore, that we must keep our earnings high enough to get the outside financing we need at the most economical rates. And this must be factored into the price you pay for electricity.

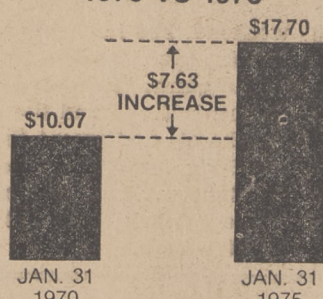

Let's take a look at what it will mean to you... and your electric bill.

4. What are you willing to pay?

Let's start with what has happened to your electric bill.

The typical electric bill has gone up 76% since January of 1970. In January 1975, our average residential customer was paying $17.70 for 500 kilowatt hours... up $7.63 from the $10.07 paid five years earlier.

Average Residential Electric Bill
(500 KILOWATT HOURS)
1970 VS 1975

The greatest part of the increase ($4.94) has been due to increased fuel costs. The remainder ($2.69) is due mostly to general inflation and the cost of financing new plant.

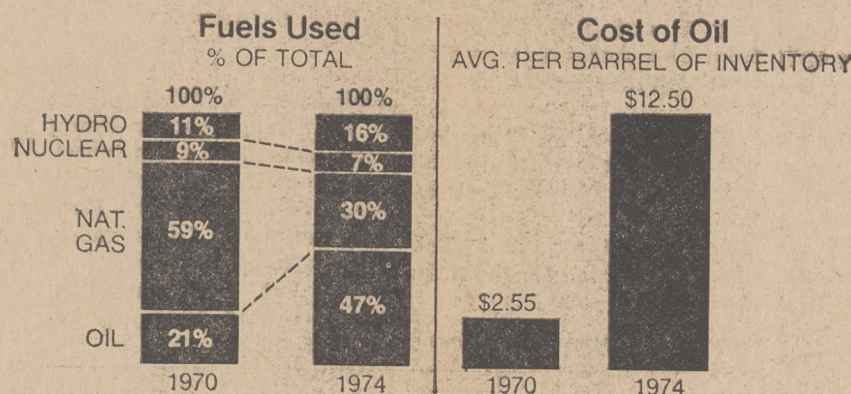

Reason for Increase

1970 VS 1974

TOTAL INCREASE: $7.63

A whopping 65% of the increase was attributable to fuel, where two factors were at work. First, we were forced to use less natural gas and more oil. And second, the cost of oil skyrocketed from $2.55 per barrel in 1970 to an average cost of $12.50 in 1974.

As to other costs, we, like you, have experienced inflation all across the board. We've shown some of the most important cost increases in the chart below.

General Inflation Increases
(COST INCREASES SINCE 1970)

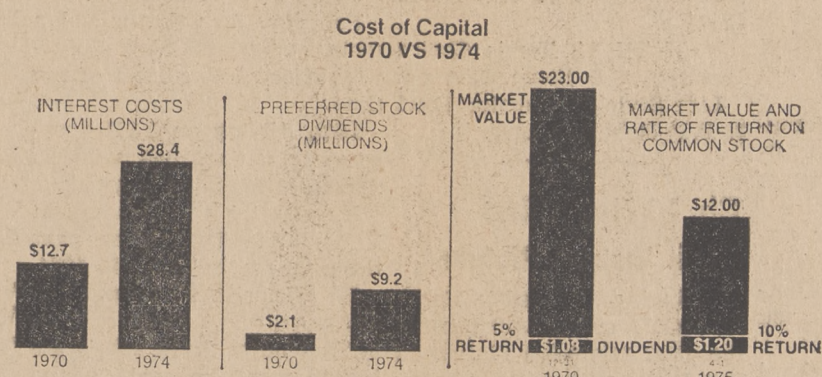

Finally, there is the cost of financing new plant. As the chart below shows, our investment in your electric plant went up $356-million in the past five years. With it, the average investment in an electric customer increased nearly $400, reaching $1,395 by the close of last year.

Electric Plant Investment
1970 VS 1974

As we indicated earlier, these plant expansions must be financed. And much of the financing came at a period when money was both scarce and expensive.

The charts above show the effects of our costs. Our interest costs were more than doubled. We had to sell some preferred stock which raised dividend costs on that money source more than four-fold.

Additionally, it became much harder to sell common stock. Back in 1970, our stock sold for $23.00 per share. With our dividends of $1.08 per share, shareholders realized a 5% return on their money. By April 1975, even though we were paying a dividend of $1.20 per share, the market value of our stock had declined to $12.00. The reason: Investors could get a seven to nine percent return on their money in totally risk-free investments. So they required a return of 10% on SDG&E stock before they were willing to buy it.

All of these things are not excuses for your higher bill. Rather, they are the hard realities of a new energy era. Once, fuels were abundant and cheap. Now they're scarce and expensive. Once, it was relatively inexpensive to build power plants. We used to be able to build them for $128 per kilowatt. Our future cost could be as high as $1,000 per kilowatt.

Now, we have to face another distressing fact. America's scarce energy era is just beginning. Costs...and therefore electric bills...are certain to keep on going up. Not just here, but all over the country.

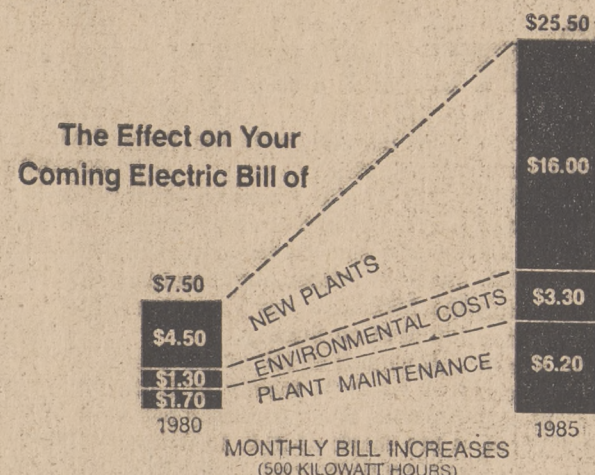

Unfortunately, inflation is a long-term problem and we can expect that it will continue to affect electric rates. But there are three other important factors that will push your electric bills up in years ahead.

New plant —We've shown that there is a big and expensive plant construction job ahead to meet your projected needs.

Maintaining present plant —Of course, too, we must keep our present plant operation efficient.

Environmental—Millions of dollars are slated to enhance the quality of our air and for undergrounding.

You need to know the probable impact of these three factors on your monthly electric bill in the years ahead. We've attempted, therefore, to project them in the chart below.

You can see that, even if all other costs stayed the same as today, the expense involved in keeping your electric system sound, providing for tomorrow's electric needs and protecting the environment will require very large increases in your bill.

In the final analysis, this is the principal reason for the rate increase we just requested. It is another installment in the ever-higher cost of providing electricity.

To be sure, the outlook is not a happy one. But you need not be helpless. You can do something about it...if you are willing to make some sacrifices...work a lot harder on energy conservation.

There are some options... some critical decisions that will directly affect the community, your job, your way of life... and that of your children.

The question is, therefore...

5. What are you willing to sacrifice?

Having the electricity you want or need in the future... at a price you can pay... is a matter of priorities or trade-offs.

To help you evaluate them, we've prepared the chart below. One side of the chart shows the measures that might be taken to bring down the cost of your future electric bill. The other side shows the effect of these measures: The sacrifices you and the rest of the community must be prepared to make if the measures were to become reality.

Possible Measures	Their Effects
STOP OR POSTPONE NEW PLANT CONSTRUCTION Based on the conservation effort of 1974, we have already been able to postpone one new power plant. But here are the effects of a total stoppage...or sharp reduction	• Extreme conservation...further decreases in residential use of electricity. • No new industry...new jobs. • No new housing...housing shortage, unemployment in related industries. • No improvement in industry's plant efficiency. • No new businesses of any kind...economic decay. • Restricted electric use during peak periods. • No new electric equipment for hospitals, schools, institutions. • No electric-powered mass transit.
REDUCE PLANT MAINTENANCE	• Prolonged electric outages. • Costly equipment repairs...for you, business and industry. • Inefficient production and distribution.
REDUCE ENVIRONMENTAL COSTS	• Sacrifice gains made in protection of air, water quality. • No more undergrounding of distribution system.
REDUCE CUSTOMER SERVICE	• Slower emergency service. • No home calls, lighting pilots, etc. • Limited information service.
SHIFT COST TO HIGH VOLUME ELECTRIC USERS Ask business and industry to shoulder major burden of coming rate increases	• Local industry made non-competitive...move out-of-town...lost jobs. • Big increase in costs to local businessmen...increased prices to you for all products and services. • Skyrocketing bills for higher-use residential customers.

Electricity. How much do you need? Where will it come from? How much will it cost? Who will pay for it? Where does it fit in the standard of living you want for yourself, your family, your community?

They're not easy questions to answer. But we stand ready to discuss them with you... to provide whatever additional information you need to reach your decisions... and to understand ours more clearly.

Watch for the Community Dialogue Meeting in your community.

Hafey, Title Bound, Fights Barra Friday

Art Hafey, set for a title elimination duel in early summer, will risk those plans Friday when he faces Texas-based Rudy Barra in a scheduled 10-round match at the Coliseum.

Rated fourth among the world's top featherweights, the Irishman from Pacific Beach has been slated to oppose Nicaragua's Yambito Blanco on June 20th in Los Angeles, with the winner positioning himself for a shot at the championship.

Hafey is anxious to test a badly bruised left hand, an injury sustained in the final stages of his recent knockout win over Venezuela's Alfredo

Mercano, the ex-junior light-weight king.

The South American-born Barra disposed of Hafey's previously announced opponent, Jaime Martinez, by breaking the Mexican's jaw in a Houston gym on Sunday.

A winner of 109 of 115 amateur contests, mostly in Latin America, Rudy currently owns a pro mark of 29-2. Last time out, he defeated Kenny Walden over 12 rounds to gain the Texas state featherweight crown.

Hafey's record stands at 39-4-1.

Last Week

Rudy Hernandez, the 19-year-old college youth from La Palma, made it 17 in a row Friday night when he whipped Tokyo's Shinichi Sata in the Coliseum's 10-round main event.

Hernandez seemed to lack his usual power and he appeared slower than usual. But the judges were unanimous in their decision.

In a welterweight semi, Jimmy Jackson KO'd Allan Gant at 2:30 of the third round. It was Jackson's seventh in a row; his ninth this year.

Jose Gonzales KO'd Rojelio Moring the third round of a six-round junior welterweight scrap.

Marty Monroe scored a knockout over Fernando Jones at 39 seconds of the round of a fight scheduled for five.

Fights begin at 8:15 each Friday.

Padres Home Through May 1

The first of three rounds at home against National League Western Division opposition for the San Diego Padres is on tap this week as the Pads test the defending National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers, Atlanta Braves and Houston Astros.

Caliente Slates Benefit Race for Spill Victim

The Wilfredo Osuna Purse, an allowance event for 3-year-old horses, is held Sunday, May 4, at Agua Caliente with proceeds from the race to benefit the family of Osuna who died at a Tijuana hospital from a head injury he received April 5 in a two-horse spill during the running of the seventh race.

Jack P. Meyers, Caliente's director of racing, in announcing the event said the race for sophomore horses will be a $6,000 added allowance purse at one mile and one-sixteenth.

Caliente observes the first anniversary of the new track on Saturday, May 3, with a number of special events scheduled. The Kentucky Derby from Churchill Downs will be shown on closed circuit color television throughout the track and wagering on the classic event will be available to fans in attendance.

Caliente Winnings Big

CALIENTE—A single ticket winner with six correct selections in Agua Caliente's 5-10 handicapping contest was recorded for the second straight weekend as Manuel Gutierrez, a Tijuana diesel parts shop owner collected $52,443.80 for sweeping the card on Saturday.

On April 13, Burl Henry of Pasadena, was paid $89,028 for selecting six straight winners. Henry, a disabled veteran of the Vietnam war, used a $32 ticket to win his fortune.

The highest payoff to a single winner since the track opened in May last year, was the $120,171 paid to Manuel Bustamante of Carson in August, 1974.

Bobby Sox Pitching Helps Winners

By Paul Stark

Goodpitching dominated last week's play in the Spring Valley Bobby Sox League as Cindy Smith of Thomas Disposal and Susan Hobb of Delp Plastering turned in outstanding performances with 17 and 15 strikeout games.

On Monday Miss Hobb teamed up with Frances Shrader to hurl a three hitter to beat the S.V. Women's Club 6-5 for sole possession of first place.

Allie Humphries hurled a no-hitter, fanned 16 in leading Bancroft 7-11 to a 1-10 win over Tom's Meats.

Lauren Passion and Veronica Acuna on Tuesday led Little Eden to a 20-14 slugfest win over Bargain Bin.

Humphries pitched her second consecutive no-hitter in the 7-11 18-0 victory over Goodbody Mortuary as she fanned 12.

On Wednesday Blanchard Realty came up with two runs in the seventh to beat Thomas Disposal 3-2 on the four hit pitching of Nancy Lieberman who also drove in the winning run of the game.

Becki Clarke and Cecilia Alvarez combined to hurl a one-hitter for Tom's Meats to a 16-10 win over the Willenberg Goldiggers.

"This homestand will provide us with our first look at the Dodgers," manager John McNamara said. "They got off on the wrong foot by losing three straight to Cincinnati, but they've been hot lately thanks to sweeping the Reds four straight in Los Angeles. They suffered some early injuries, but it appears they haven't slowed down any because of them."

L.G.'s Hitt Leads Racers

Jim Hitt's at it again.

Saturday he won the 30-lap main event at Cajon Speedway after trailing most of the time.

Hitt, driving an L&R sponsored Mustang, has won 25 mains in the last five years.

He was the track champ in 1971; finished third the next three years, then won in 1974. He stands in first place this week.

"You never know who's going to win," he said. In the first race of the season a tire bubbled and burst. Things like that can happen in any race. The drivers who we have to beat are the steady middle speed ones. They rack up points regularly and all of a sudden they're in first place."

Hitt, who operates an auto repair service on Imperial ave. in Lemon Grove is closely trailed by Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley. Hitt has 275 points; McIntyre, 215.

MONEY QUEEN — Shirley Batchelder, 18, is a trophy herself as she prepares to rule over the $200,000 MONY Tournament of Champions starting today through Sunday at La Costa. Miss Batchelder, of Carlsbad, will be greeting 29 of golf's greatest stars including defending champion Johnny Miller, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Bobby Nichols, Gene Littler and Tom Weiskopf. That's host professional Tommy Jacobs with Miss Batchelder, who is 5-5, 110 pounds and a cheerleader at Palomar College.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Lord Almighty! Where on the good earth did they all come from. We got sportin' events coming out of our ears.

And not just the little-bitty sand castle-building or rope skippin' tourneys that always seem to be conjured up as a world championship.

No sir, none of them. These are real jock doings.

And you can take your pick.

For instance, there is that hockey game at the Sports Arena and Rock Concert Hall Friday night.

And it is for post-season honors in the World Hockey League. They're in the championship semi-finals for the AVCO Cup.

Staying with sticks, but knocking off the mayhem, the very best golfers in the world are coming to grips with one of the toughest courses in the world today up at beautiful La Costa.

It's the 23rd annual MONY Tournament of Champions. Only winners of PGA Championship tourneys during the last year get to play in this one. And, of course, it pits Johnny Miller head-on-head with Jack Nicklaus.

Miller is the defending Champion and he earned his way in six times over the year since he took MONY's money last spring.

But Jack Nicklaus sharpened his game by winning the Masters and he likes the cut of the green at La Costa. He won two years ago, beating back a charge by Lee Trevino, then, after the crowd went home and the excitement went down, Nicklaus demonstrated his staying power with several fast sets of tennis under the lights.

Home town folks have a pair to root for in La Jolla's Gene Littler and Tijuana's Victor Regalado who learned to strengthen his hands by dealing cards.

Some people get their kicks out of making things tough for others and this is the week that La Costa golf director Tommy Jacobs wears his "Mr. Hyde" suit. His awful rough is rougher than a U.S. Open course, the fairways are narrower and he's added more bunkers and placed existing ones tighter to the greens. What a nice man to do such terrible things.

And if golf ain't your thing, there's baseball. Would you believe it the Padres have been in first place or just a shade off the pace since the season got underway.

And tonight they face the Dodgers, then host the Atlanta Braves over the weekend, including a twin-bill on Sunday.

And the Padres have specials galore. Friday is Teen-night, Saturday they will give away 10,000 Little League bats, and two games on Sunday.

Padre manager Johnny McNamara paid his dues last year with 102 losses, but never gave up. "I don't believe the good Lord put me on this earth to be a loser," he insists. And now his team is beginning to play like he's right.

Everybody knows about the cry-baby Dodgers, who seem to think they are the only team to get bad breaks this year, but think of what the Montreal Expos put up with. They had a game called last week because the temperature dropped to six degrees. And it was a day game.

The Padres took two of three against the Braves last weekend, but not without a tussle. Cincinnati's Johnny Bench says Atlanta's Ralph Garr is the toughest out in the game. "He's a swinger," says John. "Half his hits are on ball one and the other half are on ball four."

There's excitement there, but if it's too much, there's the Frog Jumping contest at the Del Mar Fair Grounds on Sunday. And the Aztecs play their annual Spring Game a week from Saturday. Where are we going to find the time?

400 Lm. Catfish

The pa beuk, a giant catfish found in the Mekong river in Laos, grows to about 400 pounds and is said to be the largest of fresh water fish.

Charges Lodged When Officers Find Hashish

The speed of the car south-bound on Sweetwater rd. April 3 attracted sheriff's deputy M. J. Walch. He had to reverse the direction of his patrol unit to contact the driver of the vehicle at Sweetwater rd. and Troy st.

In the process he noted the rear license light was out and when the pursued driver came to a halt under the officer's yellow light, two young men stepped out.

One of them tossed an object into a driveway of a nearby massage parlor. The driver gave his age as 22 via an altered ID. He smelled of alcohol and failed a drinking-driver field test. The passenger, John Michael Dawson, 18, of 8604 Valencia st., Spring Valley and the youth who was later discovered to be 17, were arrested when the tossed-away object was recovered by the sheriff's deputy and found to contain 1.5 grams of hashish and barbiturate caps. The 17-year old youth was charged with driving while intoxicated.

When the records were investigated it was learned that he was a minor. He was released to juvenile authorities. Dawson will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

GRAND OPENING WEEK...at

San Diego's Newest Drive-thru & Take-out Restaurant

APRIL 19 thru APRIL 26, 1975

FREE $1.00 OFF COUPON!

PLUS 100 GRAND PRIZES!

That's right, friends and neighbors. TWO GRAND PRIZE DRAWINGS and a FREE $1.00 OFF COUPON. The Judge wants you all to join in! Y'know what else he's got going?

His musical friends are coming on over for a couple of hoedowns and Judge Tibbs himself will be there to greet you both Saturdays, April 19 and 26. Being a man of the people, and proud-as-all-get-out of his cooking, the Judge wants you to sample his fare. It's the best in the West, he judges.

That's why he's giving away 100 GRAND PRIZES, FIFTY on the 19th, and another FIFTY on the 26th. Each prize valued at TEN UNITED STATES DOLLARS WORTH of his own particular style of old-time western chicken and ribs.

Judge Tibbs often honored friends and neighbors to a dinner of his own old-time Western recipes at his ranch house beyond the bridge East of town. Hands-down favorite among the many hearty plates he served were the Judge's chicken and ribs, cooked tender and juicy in a specially blended sauce and served on large platters fresh from the oven, fragrant with a particular hint of the smokehouse. Now, today, this same experience is yours to enjoy every time you come a'calling at JUDGE TIBBS' CHICKEN AND RIBS.

HEARTY WESTERN FLAVOR!

Country style ribs brushed with the Judge's own barbecue sauce means that special flavor found only out West. You get this same scrumptious flavor with his chicken...same delicious sauce...brings to mind that savory taste you get over a hickory campfire in the crisp mountain air.

As for the Judge's Golden Fried Chicken, he dips and fries it in a very special batter. Trail bosses, ranchers and their ladies all come gallopin' over when the Judge steps into his kitchen and starts a'cookin'. Now he's packing both types of chicken and the ribs in convenient carry-out boxes to take on the trail with you.

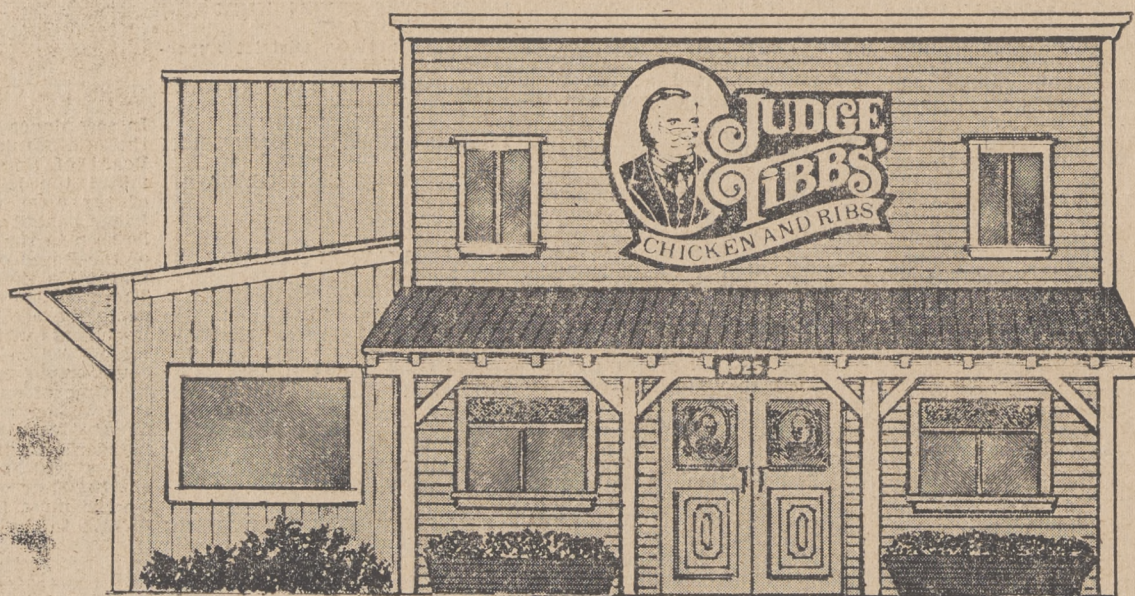

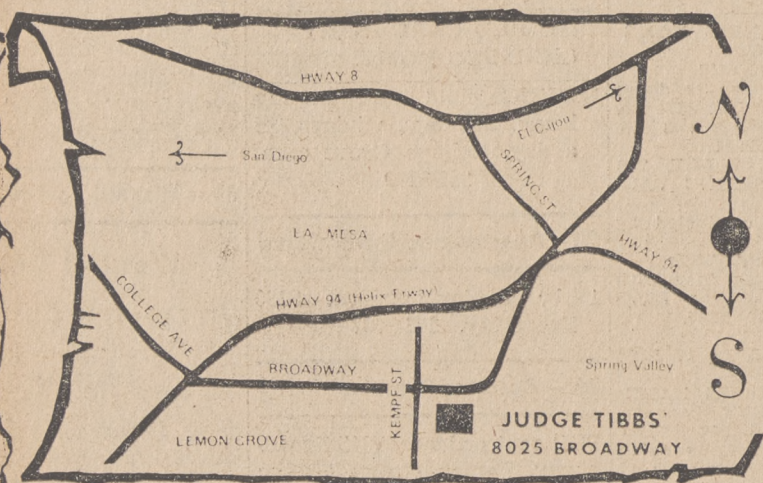

The Judge has all sorts of other great food items, Cottage Fried Potatoes, Western Style Baked Beans, even Carrot-Raisin Salad. Whatever you choose, they've all got that just-as-you-like-it flavor! So hitch up your team and roll 'em on thru.
